Certain observations on the international application Box No. VIII

The following observations on the clarity of the claims, description, and drawings or on the question whether the claims are fully supported by the description, are made:

see separate sheet

PCT/IB2004/004013

1) Reference is made to the following documents:

D1: WO 02/102315 A D2: US-A-5 547 954

2) Reference to section III

Claims 6-8 and 12-15 relate to subject-matter considered by this Authority to be covered by the provisions of Rule 67.1(iv) PCT. Consequently, no opinion will be formulated with respect to the industrial applicability of the subject-matter of these claims (Article 34(4)(a)(I) PCT).

3) Novelty (Reference to section V)

D1 and D2 disclose pyrido[2,3-d]pyrimidine derivatives, which are structurally close to present compounds of formula (I), but which possess a different substitution pattern on the central heterocyclic moiety.

Accordingly, the subject-matter of present claims 1-15 meets the criteria of Article 33(2) PCT.

4) Inventive step (Reference to section V)

D1, which may be considered to represent the closest state of the art, describes quinazoline and pyrido[2,3-d]pyrimidine inhibitors of phosphodiesterase 7 (PDE 7), which differ from the present subject-matter in the definition of R² and L, for instance.

The problem to be solved by the present application may therefore be regarded as the provision of alternative phosphodiesterase 2 inhibitors (PDE 2).

In view of the teaching of D1 (the compounds therein disclosed are directed to a different receptor and to a different substitution), the skilled person would deem present compounds of formula (I) as non-obvious.

The skilled person would not also take into consideration any combination with the teaching of D2, as this document relates to compounds for controlling insects in agricultural crops.

Consequently, the subject-matter of present claims 1-15 meets the requirements of Article 33(3) PCT.

PCT/IB2004/004013

5) Industrial applicability (Reference to section V)

For the assessment of the present claims 6-8 and 12-15 on the question whether they are industrially applicable, no unified criteria exist in the PCT Contracting States. The patentability can also be dependent upon the formulation of the claims. The EPO, for example, does not recognize as industrially applicable the subject-matter of claims to the use of a compound in medical treatment, but may allow, however, claims to a known compound for first use in medical treatment and the use of such a compound for the manufacture of a medicament for a new medical treatment.

6) Further observations (Reference to section VIII)

Prodrug: protection cannot be sought for speculative compounds, which have yet to be prepared and investigated. Although there is an indication within the application as to what it may be, a prodrug is not a definable term as regards its structure. The skilled person has no indication as to what falls within this definition, and it should thus be deleted. No analysis of novelty and inventive step has therefore been made for all the compounds which are combinations of "prodrug" and of derivatives of formula (I).
